Subject: Voluntary Furlough with Limited Recall II Program (VFLR II)

As a result of the reduction of aircraft and the overstaffing created, the Company is offering a second Voluntary Furlough with Limited Recall II Program (VFLR II), under which qualifying Flight Attendants may voluntarily furlough (due to lack of work) from US Airways with limited recall rights in exchange for a cash payment on November 30, 2005 and certain travel benefits for themselves and eligible family members. There may be tax consequences associated with the use of these travel benefits.

In order to qualify for the Program, an employee must have been in an active status as of July 7, 2005, and must be in an active status as of his/her awarded VFLR II release date of September 1, 2005 to be eligible for a VFLR II. (Flight attendants awarded a VPLOA for September will be considered active for the purposes of this Program.) A copy of the complete Program is available on the Inflight Services page on theHub (thehub.usairways.com). Flight attendants awarded a December 2, 2005 release date in the original VFLR Program are not eligible to participate. Their release date will remain December 2, 2005.

Please read all of the details of the Program. To be considered for participation, you must be eligible, and must complete the VFLR II Application and Bid Form and return it to US Airways Inc., Inflight Administration H/195, 2345 Crystal Drive, Arlington, VA, 22227, Attention: Voluntary Furlough with Limited Recall II Program.
