From: Sherry Groff, Vice President - Inflight Services
Subject: Voluntary Furlough with Limited Recall (VFLR) Program

The Company is offering a Voluntary Furlough with Limited Recall (VFLR) Program, under which qualifying Flight Attendants may voluntarily furlough (due to lack of work) from US Airways with limited recall rights in exchange for a cash payment and certain travel benefits for themselves and eligible family members. There may be tax consequences associated with the use of these travel benefits.

In order to qualify for the Program, an employee must have been in an active status as of December 1, 2004, and must be in an active status as of his/her awarded VFLR release date (i.e., June 1, September 1, or December 2, 2005) to be eligible for a VFLR. A copy of the complete Program is available on the Inflight Services page on theHub (thehub.usairways.com).

Please read all of the details of the Program. To be considered for participation, you must be eligible, and must complete the VFLR Application and Bid Form and return it to US Airways Inc., Inflight Administration H/195, 2345 Crystal Drive, Arlington, VA, 22227, Attention: Voluntary Furlough with Limited Recall Program. Such Application and Bid Form must be received and in the possession of Inflight Administration no later than April 20, 2005 at 11:59 pm. You may fax your Application and Bid Form to (703) 872-6476. You may verify receipt of your Application and Bid Form by checking on theHub. Inflight Administration will post on theHub each afternoon (Monday through Friday) a searchable list of forms received. The list will be available after 5 pm and include forms received prior to 11 am that day.

Please address any questions that you may have about this program to Inflight Administration at 800-327-0117. Prompts, 1, 5, 4, 5.
